WELCOME BACK!

We’d like to welcome back all of you who are returning from your summer travels, and all of you new faculty, staff and students who are joining the WJH community! Connection is your weekly William James Hall newsletter, which lists talks and other events going on in the building, or elsewhere on campus, that may be of particular interest to this community. If you are presenting anything, such as a workshop or seminar series that you’d like us to publish, please send it along. We also will publish classified ads. If you are looking for housing, or have an apartment to rent or sublet, or items you’d like to buy, sell, or give away, you can publish that information here. Connection is published every Monday during the academic year. Please send submissions no later than noon on Thursdays.

We would also like to direct you to the WJH website, which has links to the departments of Psychology, Sociology, and Social Studies, and also to the WJH Building Operations Office. The building ops section has links to the various services we provide, such as keys and electronic access to WJH, parking, room reservations, etc, and also has a link for submitting maintenance requests (hot/cold rooms, leaks, burn-out lights, and more. Please visit the website at http://buildingops.wjh.harvard.edu, and familiarize yourself with these resources!
