MONDAY
DEPARTMENT OF SOCIOLOGY: INEQUALITY AND SOCIAL POLICY SEMINAR

2
- Robert E. Hall
  (Stanford)
  The extreme inequality of the burden of unemployment, interim jobs, and brief spells out of the labor force

DECEMBER
12:00 noon, Harvard Kennedy School, Malkin Penthouse (Littauer 4th floor)

MONDAY
MIND, BRAIN, BEHAVIOR INITIATIVE: MBB LUNCH SERIES

2
- Kevin Carney
  (Public Policy)
  Beliefs, time preference, and HIV
- Benjamin Bellet
  (Psychology)
  The vulnerability paradox in posttraumatic stress disorder: A product of the neurotic treadmill?

DECEMBER
12:15 pm, WJH 1550 (lunch available at 12:10 pm)

MONDAY
HARVARD GRADUATE SCHOOL OF EDUCATION MBE LECTURE SERIES

2
- Charles Nelson
  (Boston Children’s Hospital, HMS, and HGSE)
  Sensitive periods in human development: The effects of early profound deprivation on brain-behavioral development

DECEMBER
2:30 pm, Larsen 203 (14 Appian Way, Cambridge)

TUESDAY
DEPARTMENT OF PSYCHOLOGY: CLINICAL JOB TALK

3
- Jennifer Forsyth
  (UCLA)
  Schizophrenia: Finding the path from genes to complex syndrome

DECEMBER
12:00 noon, WJH 105

WEDNESDAY
DEPARTMENT OF PSYCHOLOGY: CLINICAL JOB TALK

4
- Aaron Heller
  (University of Miami)
  Combining health with neuroscience to better understand emotion and well-being

DECEMBER
4:00 pm, WJH 1550

THURSDAY
DEPARTMENT OF SOCIOLOGY: SOCIAL DEMOGRAPHY SEMINAR

5
- Robert Hummer
  (University of North Carolina)
  Health disparities among US adults who will soon transition to middle age (with a lagniappe focusing on add health data collection, availability, and future plans).”

DECEMBER
12:00 noon, Harvard Center for Population and Development Studies, 9 Bow Street

FRIDAY
HARVARD CENTER FOR POPULATION AND DEVELOPMENT STUDIES SEMINAR

6
- Jack Smalligan
  (Urban Institute in Washington, DC)
  Policies for an aging labor force: Keeping workers employed after health shocks

DECEMBER
12:00 noon, Harvard Center for Population and Development Studies, 9 Bow Street